Summer Institute on Race

Race has been called “the great American obsession” and has shaped the lives of people in our society for hundreds of years. Even today race strongly influences life expectancy, quality of healthcare, income, wealth, job opportunities, incarceration rates, quality of education, and much more. Race also changes how we interact with one another, and the things we say—and don’t say—about this taboo topic. The Beyond Diversity Summer Institute offers ways to positively change racial dynamics in the places where we live and work.

You are invited to an educational setting in which participants from diverse backgrounds explore race and build community across racial differences. The Institute will be interactive and highly participatory. Activities will include a trip to Philadelphia’s National Constitution Center and Chinatown.

In the Beyond Diversity Summer Institute you will learn:

- The profound impact of early messages about race.
- How racial privilege affects individual and group interactions.
- Why power relationships change cross-race relationships.
- How the history of race shapes current attitudes and behaviors.
- How racial ideology influences individual and institutional behavior.
- The effects of internalized racial superiority and oppression.
- Action planning and strategies to address race and racism.

The Institute is open to learners of all cultural backgrounds. We especially welcome the voices of those not usually heard in anti-racism training, including LGBTQI people, white men, Asians, bi-racial and multi-racial people, and indigenous people.

This course is open to everyone; however, it is eligible for three credits toward a Graduate Certificate in Diversity from the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs. Please visit the UCCS website for more information on separate costs and other requirements for the certificate program: <http://www.uccs.edu/lases/diversity.html> Participants pursuing the graduate certificate will have an additional essay assignment required for their grades.

People find the Beyond Diversity Summer Institute not only informative but often life-changing. Insights from the Institute open individuals to new ways of seeing the world and building deep and lasting relationships. Join us for this unique learning opportunity.
